Who are more thrifty—Men or Women?

Some say that women are more thrifty than men. We do not know about this. It is very much like saying that women are more honest than men. Nobody knows, and we don't think such questions as these will ever really be decided.

The thrift proclivity is not influenced by anything that is peculiar to either sex, in our opinion.

Any man or woman with a brain and a backbone can be thrifty. Any thinking person can see the desirability of being thrifty, and any person with vim and self-control can be thsifty—man or woman, boy or girl.

Rev. W S. Royal of the Baptist church performed a ceremony yesterday at the home of Wiley D. Caldwell, beyond Peakland, when two couples were united under the same service, Joel W. Covington to Stella Hammond Caldwell, and Hunter W. Simms to Mary Beulah Caldwell. These made five marriage ceremonies performed by Mr. Royal in that family, as he has been their pastor for some years. A large number of relatives and friends attended the service and immediately after the ceremony a beautiful and delicious old Virginia dinner was served. The couples left in automobiles for the homes of the grooms, both of whom are thrifty young farmers of Appomattox county.—Lynchburg News of Thursday.

In the last part of the game the Cotton Mill boys put in a pinch hitter, with the score 6 to 3 in favor of Red House sluggers. Red House went up and allowed four aims to cross the rubber, which ended, a clean-cut, and well-played game enjoyed by 300 fans. The latter teams will meet again soon at Red House

The Great Union Meeting At Appomattox

REV. THURSTON B PRICE, EVANGELIST

Fr George R. Stuart says: In my many years of both pastorate and evangelistic work, it has been my pleasure and profit to meet many types of people, and to examine with interest the character of the work done. I have had opportunity to know Thurston B. Price and have been delighted to find that his preaching is clear and sound, and his methods are sensible and effective, and that the work he does is in every way satisfactory. His methods are original and attractive enough to draw crowds, but they are free from objectionable, injurious sensationalism.

JOHN E. THOMAS, SOLIOST

Daily American Press says: Too much cannot be said in praise of the music under the direction of Mr. Thomas. Mr. Thomas' efficiency in his work grows more apparent with every service. Besides being a singer, himself, of unusual merit, he knows how to drill and handle a chorus so as to get out of them their very best. He does not confine himself to the music, either, but the conducting of the introductory services is entirely in his charge. He keeps the audience constantly on the qui vive, and the interest never lags from the opening song to the concluding prayer. The song numbers are interspersed with pointed illustrations, appropriate bits of humor, and an occasional recitation of a tender verse.

VIRGINIA ELKS ENDORSE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

The Elks equipped and financed Base Hospital No. 41, which was organized and recruited at the University of Virginia, and which made a splendid record during its service in France.

The resolutions follows:

Whereas the Virginia State Reunion Association of the B. P. O. Elks comprises the subordinate lodges of the Order of Elks in this State and represents a membership of nearly ten thousand loyal and patriotic Americans and citizens of Virginia; and

Whereas, the Association and its membership in Virginia are not only interested in all that concerns the welfare of the State and its institutions, but feel a peculiar interest in the Medical School of the University of Virginia, whose splendid Base Hospital Unit, No. 41, which made such a magnificent record in the World War, was equipped and financed by the Order of Elks; and

Whereas, in the opinion of the Association it would be most unwise to disrupt the unity of the University organization by removing any of its schools from the seat of the University itself;

Now, therefore, Be It Resolved by the Virginia State Reunion Association of the B. P. O. Elks, in annual session assembled:

1. That it opposes most vigorously the proposal to remove the University Medical School to Richmond or to any other city;

2. That such a dismemberment of the University would, in the opinion of this Association, be disastrous to the institution and would impair its usefulness and prestige to a degree beyond calculation;

3. That the members of the Order of Elks in Virginia are urged in all appropriate ways to endeavor to prevent the proposed removal of the University Medical School, as an act comparable with the act of the Order in equipping and financing its Base Hospital Unit, No. 41, and as a definite service to the University and the State of Virginia.
